Here are the 3 steps to having a winning product; a winning product is one that produces sales and repeat customers plain and simple.

Step 1 Do Your Homework

Go and actively find out what's already selling and what isn't... actually focus on their sales pages and figure out what the main points are that makes people buy that product. Find out what people are talking about and that will lead you to understand what they want to buy.

Then actively search out the information you believe people want to buy. You need to find experts and use the knowledge they freely share online to your advantage.

Step 2 Create The Entire Darn Product

So now that you've done your homework you can go about creating the product. Don't worry about it being perfect, don't even worry about how long it is, just include all the important information and spend some time structuring and presenting the product in the most logical way. Write a compelling sales page or video (or team up with someone who can). But MOST IMPORTANTLY FINISH THE ENTIRE PRODUCT AND GET IT ONLINE!!!

Step 3 Send Traffic To Your Product Like A Mad Man

You must send traffic to your product in order to make sales. Without lots of traffic it's going to be much harder to generate sales. Use all of your best traffic strategies, use all of your resources, go and search out the best traffic methods. Focus on the biggest and best traffic strategies... think like top product creators do!
